

Pacific Charter School Development - Associate Project Manager

Pacific Charter School Development, Inc. or PCSD, a California non-profit public benefit corporation, is the leading developer of charter school facilities nationally. PCSD works solely with non-profit operators of charter schools.

We are looking for an Associate Project Manager to support the development of new charter school facilities in the Bay Area. The Associate Project Manager will be based in Bay Area and he /she will assist senior staff on a minimum of 2+ projects, at various stages of development. The Associate Project Manager will ultimately gain exposure to all phases of the facilities development process including site selection, due diligence, design development, entitlements, financing support and construction through project closeout. The Associate Project Manager will need to be able to operate independently as well as work as a team member. The Associate Project Manager will report to the Senior Project Manager and will work closely with PCSD's Finance Team and the Bay Area Executive Director to execute on the day-to-day project management activities.
